ABOUT UNSW PRESS

UNSW Press is well known as one of Australia's leading publishers of Australian history and politics. But our list is much broader than this. It includes books of ideas relevant to Australian culture and society in a broad range of general non-fiction titles. We have a widely respected program in the sciences and the arts — from authoritative, expert monographs to highly illustrated, large format trade books — and are currently expanding our list in the area of corporate and client publishing.

UNSW PRESS is the largest university press in Australia. The company employs a publishing team of commissioning, project and managing editors, and design and production professionals. We operate the UNSW Bookshop servicing 35,000 students and staff, and are the only university press in Australia to have a dedicated sales, marketing, warehousing and distribution operation — UNIREPS.

UNIREPS employs a team of sales personnel Australia-wide, representing over 25 national and international publishers. We believe we are uniquely placed in the Australian book publishing industry to market and sell our titles across the range of outlets from major trade book chains to specialist independent bookstores; as well as reach the academic and professional markets where we have an established reputation.

UNSW PRESS titles have won many awards over our 40-plus years of operation — a testament to our consistently high editorial and production values. These include the prestigious Premier's Literary and History Awards, the Ernest Scott Prize, Book Design awards, Whitely Prizes, National Book Council awards, the Cultural Criticism Prize, Eureka Science Book and National Biography Awards.

PUBLISHING YOUR BOOK WITH UNSW PRESS

UNSW Press develops publishing partnerships with a wide variety of institutions, individuals and organisations, where we offer our professional services to produce books on their behalf. We seek partners who wish to publish and acquire quality books for their organisations and share as co-publishers the respected UNSW Press imprint. As a professionally published title, your book will be readily available to the book trade throughout Australia and internationally through UNIREPS.

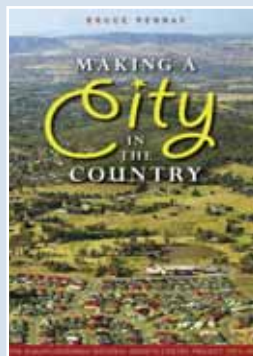

Previous books for publishing partners have included:

- Histories that mark anniversaries of establishment
- Biographies of noted members of organisations
- Artbooks linked to gallery and museum exhibitions
- Corporate titles that are marketing oriented
- Products such as diaries and calendars

UNSW PRESS can provide a publishing package suited to clients' individual requirements in a thorough consultation process. We work to ensure that your book is produced to budget, to schedule and at the right print run, to reach the market for the book and to achieve the publishing objectives for your organisation. Our services include:

- Experienced project management
- Structural editing and specialist copy editing for manuscripts
- Advice on design and format options
- Sourcing the most competitive print quotations for your specifications
- Design and layout with attention to detail and high production values
- UNIREPS sales, marketing and distribution

We work closely with our clients, so that they are involved in, and have the opportunity for input, at every stage of the production process. Partnerships can be on the basis of a guaranteed purchase of the print run or a production subsidy. If your organisation is interested in proposing a book for publication, please contact the Commissioning Editor for Client Publishing.
